Cubron Grotesk

20 SANS SERIF FONTS DESIGNED BY UFUK ARACIOĞLU

HORIZON TYPE FOUNDRY / JUNE 2025

HORIZONTYPE.COM

Cubron Grotesk is a geometric sans-serif type family with 10 weights and matching italics, crafted to be both flexible and consistent across print and digital environments.

It doesn’t try to steal the spotlight but it knows how to hold your attention. With clean, thoughtful geometry and just the right amount of warmth, it walks the line between neutrality and personality. But Cubron doesn’t stop there: with nearly 20 stylistic alternates, it gives you the option to fine-tune its voice adding sharper angles, more assertive forms, or a cleaner, minimalist tone when the moment calls for it.

It’s sharp when you need clarity, soft where you need flow. Whether you're building a brand, shaping a layout, or crafting an interface, Cubron Grotesk adapts with ease from bold headlines to quiet paragraphs.
A reliable voice, ready for quiet confidence or bold clarity just as you need.

AABCDEFGGHIIJJKK
LMMNNOPQQRRST
UVVWWXYZZ

aaabcdeffghiijjkkllm nopqrsttuvvwwxyyzz

({[$¢£0123456789
..,,:·:;;!!??/@%&ꝋꝊ]})

10 WEIGHTS WITH MATCHING ITALICS

01 Thin Italic
02 Extra Light Italic
03 Light Italic
04 Book Italic
05 Regular Italic
06 Medium Italic
07 Semi Bold Italic
08 Bold Italic
09 Extra Bold Italic
10 Black Italic

102 PT / THIN

Infiltrations

102 PT / EXTRALIGHT

Proletarian

102 PT / LIGHT

Slackening

102 PT / BOOK

Lithologies

102 PT / REGULAR

Mountable

102 PT / MEDIUM

Contradict

102 PT / SEMI BOLD

Stargazers

102 PT / BOLD

Manpower

102 PT / EXTRA BOLD

Autocratic

102 PT / BLACK

Circularity

102 PT / THIN ITALIC

Discomfort

102 PT / EXTRA LIGHT ITALIC

Integrators

102 PT / LIGHT ITALIC

Landmarks

102 PT / BOOK ITALIC

Genotypes

102 PT / REGULAR ITALIC

Awakening

102 PT / MEDIUM ITALIC

Lovestruck

102 PT / SEMI BOLD ITALIC

Peacetime

102 PT / BOLD ITALIC

Transports

102 PT / EXTRA BOLD ITALIC

Memorials

102 PT / BLACK ITALIC

Internalise

102 PT / THIN

NARCOTIC

102 PT / EXTRA LIGHT

BRAWLING

102 PT / LIGHT

MULTIPLEX

102 PT / BOOK

GUIDELINE

102 PT / REGULAR

RENOVATE

102 PT / MEDIUM

ENTANGLE

102 PT / SEMI BOLD

BACKSEAT

102 PT / BOLD

MARSHIER

102 PT / EXTRA BOLD

DISCOVER

102 PT / BLACK

NIGHTLIFE

102 PT / THIN ITALIC

FRACTURE

102 PT / EXTRA LIGHT ITALIC

SWITCHER

102 PT / LIGHT ITALIC

CHARISMA

102 PT / BOOK ITALIC

GLANCING

102 PT / REGULAR ITALIC

IDEALISTIC

102 PT / MEDIUM ITALIC

GUNSIGHT

102 PT / SEMI BOLD ITALIC

EPIGRAMS

102 PT / BOLD ITALIC

PLAYMATE

102 PT / EXTRA BOLD ITALIC

COLONISE

102 PT / BLACK ITALIC

DISORDER

20 PT / THIN

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmo-

20 PT / EXTRA LIGHT

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully

20 PT / LIGHT

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without ques-

20 PT / BOOK

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities,

20 PT / REGULAR

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compas-

20 PT / MEDIUM

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected.

20 PT / SEMI BOLD

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportuni-

20 PT / BOLD

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faith-

20 PT / EXTRA BOLD

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without questioning their truth or logic. Therefore, whatev-

20 PT / BLACK

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with

20 PT / THIN ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully

20 PT / EXTRA LIGHT ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without questioning their truth or logic.

20 PT / LIGHT ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities,

20 PT / BOOK ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faith-

20 PT / REGULAR ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without ques-

20 PT / MEDIUM ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities,

20 PT / SEMI BOLD ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faith-

20 PT / BOLD ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without

20 PT / EXTRA BOLD ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with

20 PT / BLACK ITALIC

Your mind is a garden, and your thoughts are the seeds. What you choose to plant and nourish will ultimately determine what you harvest. If you continually dwell on fear, lack, or resentment, your subconscious will faithfully mirror these patterns in the world around you. But if you cultivate ideas of peace, abundance, and compassion, your subconscious responds with opportunities, harmony, and solutions you never expected. The subconscious mind does not reason or analyze — it simply accepts. It acts on the beliefs fed into it, without questioning their truth or logic. Therefore, whatever dominates your conscious attention becomes the blueprint your subconscious uses to shape reality.

10 PT / THIN / BOOK / THIN ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / EXTRA LIGHT /MEDIUM / EXTRALIGHT ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / LIGHT / SEMIBOLD / LIGHT ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / BOOK / BOLD / BOOK ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / REGULAR / BOLD / REGULAR ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / MEDIUM / EXTRABOLD / MEDIUM ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the “how.” That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / SEMI BOLD / EXTRA LIGHT / SEMI BOLD ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the "how." That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / BOLD / LIGHT / BOLD ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the "how." That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / EXTRA BOLD / BOOK / EXTRA BOLD ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the "how." That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

10 PT / BLACK /MEDIUM / BLACK ITALIC

The first step toward any achievement is desire — not idle wishing, but a clear, sustained longing rooted in purpose. When you define what you want and impress it with feeling upon your subconscious mind, you set powerful forces into motion. You may not see immediate change, but like a seed in the soil, transformation is quietly underway.

Many people give up before the seed has time to sprout. They look for results outside, forgetting that all results begin inside. The subconscious mind works in silence, beneath the surface of awareness. Its timing is precise, but it does not rush. Impatience is like digging up the seed every day to see if it has grown — it disrupts the process.

The law is simple: hold the image of your desire firmly and faithfully, and the subconscious will find a way to express it. This may happen through ideas, people, coincidences, or sudden clarity. But it will never happen through fear, doubt, or desperation. Those emotions send mixed signals and cancel the original impression.

The best way to plant a desire is through calm, confident visualization. Picture the result — not vaguely, but with detail and emotion. Feel it. Live in the state of already having it. Speak as though it were yours now, not someday. This signals the subconscious to begin construction.

You are not asking the universe to give you something random. You are claiming what already exists in potential form. Thought is the mold; belief is the pressure that shapes it.

Let go of the "how." That is not your domain. The subconscious mind has access to means and resources far beyond your conscious reach. Trust that what you have imagined with conviction will find its own channels to become real.

Uppercase

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
ÀÁÂÃÄÅĀĂĄǺÆǼĆĈĊČÇĎÐĐÈÉÊËĒĔĖĘ
ĚĜĞĠĢĤĦÌÍÎÏĨĪĬĮİIJĴĶĹĻĽĿŁÑŃŅŇŊÒÓÔÕÖ
ØŌŎŐǾŒŔŖŘŚŜŞŠȘßŢȚŤŦÙÚÛÜŨŪŬŮŰ
ŲŴẀẂẄỲÝŶŸŹŻŽÐÞ

Lowercase

abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz àáâãäåāăąǻæǽćĉċčçďđēĕėęěèéêëĝğġģ ĥħìíîïĩīĭįıijĵķĸĺļľŀłñńņňŉŋòóôõöōŏőœøǿŕŗřś şŝşšßţťŧțùúûüũūŭůűųŵẁẃẅỳýŷÿźżžðþ

Ligatures

fi, ffi, fj, ffj, ft, tt, rf, rt

Punctuations & Symbols

.,:;?!¿¡…“”„‘’‚«»‹›"'(){}[]/|\-–—⋯:_&@°
%ª°#

Default Numbers

0123456789

Proportional Numbers

0123456789

Oldstyle Numbers

0123456789

Tabular Oldstyle

0123456789

Miscellaneous

©℗®™*†‡§¶|

Math

+ − × ÷ = ≠ ≈ ~ ± ≤ ≥ < > ^ µ

Currency

$¢£¥€₺₽

Stylistic Alternates

aɑa, ff, ii, kk, tt, tt, vv, ww, yy, zz,
AA, GG, II, JJ, KK, MM, NN, QQ
RR, VV, WW, ZZ, 00, 11, 33, 44,
66, 77, 99, &&&, (), (),

Fractions

1234567890/1234567890

Numerators &
Denominators

H0123456789/0123456789

Superscript & Subscript

H0123456789H0123456789

Oldstyle Numbers

H0123456789

Tabular Numbers

H0123456789

SS01

aàáâãäåāăąǻ
aàáâãäåāăąǻ

SS02

aàáâãäåāăąǻ
aàáâãäåāăąǻ

SS03

,, .. :: ;; !! ?? –
(all dot-containing characters)

SS04

kk, vv, ww, zz, AA, KK, MM, NN,
VV, WW, ZZ, &&, 11, 33, 44, 77,

SS05

0123456789
←↑→↓↔↕↖↗↘↙

SS06 QQ

SS07 ßB

SS08 yy

SS09 lI

SS10 RR

SS11 GG

SS12 ll

SS13 ff

SS14 &&

SS15 tt

SS16 JJ

SS17 063906390

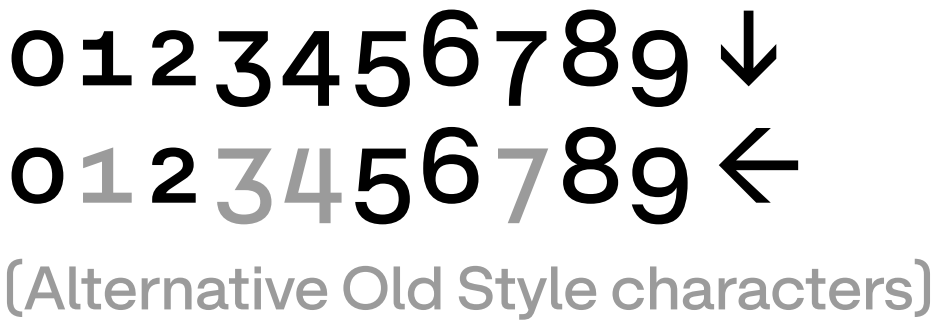

SS18

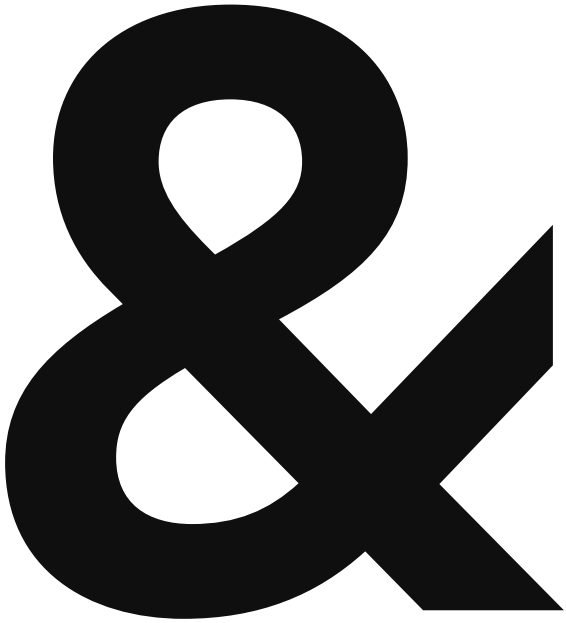

SS19

SS20

HR
ZN